

Acknowledgements

The authors wish to thank all those who made this work possible and those who helped us in our Federation service.

In preparation of this work, we thank the many individuals who contributed information. The list is too many to enumerate, but it includes many chapter officers, congress organizers, journal editors, Past-Presidents, and Executive Committee members from the past 30 years. Robert Ellingson, Federation President in 1981–1985, sent his boxes of Federation files dating from his service as President and Past-President and some from his three terms as Federation Secretary. Many other individuals also contributed details, documents, and recollections, and answered our emailed pleas for information and photographs. Andrew Eisen was very helpful in increasing our own collection by the number of photographs he contributed, and many others also generously sent electronic photographs from other activities.

We also thank those who brought us into Federation activity by giving us the opportunity to serve. This included Mary A.B. “Molly” Brazier, a Federation President and Editor-in-Chief, and an early mentor to one of us (MRN). Federation President John Desmedt appointed one of us (MRN) to serve as committee chairman for a series of practice guidelines. He also appointed one of us (CHL) as a member of the Rules Committee in his term. During the next fiscal period Federation President Jun Kimura appointed both of us to serve the Federation on the Rules Committee, increasing our activities and introducing us to many more individuals in the Federation.

William Cobb wrote the first Federation history, Wave Length: A History of the IFSECN. That work is reprinted here as the first set of chapters with minor new editing. His work in synthesizing and memorializing Federation history is not only highly appreciated but also a key to our ability to present here a history that included those first 35 years. The title of this book is based on his title.

We thank the Federation Delegates who placed their trust in us by the honor of electing us to serve as a Federation President. We thank the members of the Federation Executive Committees who served during our own terms in office, who made our service so much easier and effective.

The current Executive Committee, under the leadership of President Hiroshi Shibasaki, also deserves our thanks for their commission for us to write this work, as well as their sponsorship of making this book a gift to the attendees at the 2010 Kobe Congress.

We wish to thank the UCLA staff member, Sylvia Fong, who helped with much of the research and preparation work to actually compile and publish this volume.

Without the contributions and help of all these individuals, this book could not have been written.

Marc R. Nuwer
Los Angeles, CA, USA

Carl H. Lücking
Freiburg, Germany